

Operational Definition: High Speed Blue and Green Development

21. Images of Technologies In Urban Context

Proposed In-Transit Visibility Solution

The eucap hands –over equipments to boost Somali Police Capacity Building - Bing

An image of the TAM 242 device proposed to provide complete In-Transit Visibility and track vehicles by satellite.

The Somalia Vehicle Tracking and In-Transit Visibility Solution by Sicuro Technology is sought as the best intervention for long-haul trucking companies. This has been the critical gear for the companies operating across Somalia and Somaliland, but is also common in other part of HoA, particularly for the intergovernmental, or NGOs .

22. From cars to cell phones, from electric car charging stations to gas stations etc.,

copyright: Kayoola EVS - Kiira Motors Corporation

copyright: Dr. Demoz A.,

Kayoola, Uganda made, electric buses picking up passengers in downtown, Kampala. And the gas station with extended services.

23. Nerdy lifestyle

Copyright: Qat Consumption, Unemployment Represents 'Catch-22' in Djibouti \(worldbank.org\)

Copyright: Khat To Be Banned In UK, \(huffingtonpost.co.uk\)

I prefer to showcase Catha edulis consumption of the people of, literally, handful countries lining both sides of the Red Sea: Yemen, Kenya, Ethiopia, Somalia etc. Kevin Fedarko provided a title: “High in Hell” \(esquire.com\) to describe what he observed in Djibouti about chat - a “psychotropic shrub” - also known as “Khat,” “tree of paradise,” or “the green gold” consumption. This shrub has long banned in other parts of the world but in HoA it is a way of life hence perfectly legally practiced. The tree of paradise is believed to suppress dissent, help assuage suffering and to help to stay alert. But only in Djibouti – where the drug is popular at every level of society, from beggars on the streets to the president – do these leaves also play the wider role of desensitization an entire population. Djibouti is the only country in the world that truly fits the definition of a narcotic-society: a place where a drug is not so much a business as a way of life.” And where Khat is – quite literally – the opiate of the masses. The practice lasts up to 14 continuous ours and this social pastime is both counterproductive and harmful to health.