

Operational Definition: High Scale and Relatively Young Demographics

17. Street Photography of Places

indexicality # 17 displays a street photography of people in tables of a café with Cinema Impero viewed from the other sides of the road.

copyright: <https://m.facebook.com>

Indexicality # 17 displays a street photography of people, chatting in tables of cafes and restaurants, cinemas, theater etc.

18. Kindergarten Spaces In Stores, Offices, etc

copyright: Facebook

copyright: Mary Joy Development Association, AA, Ethiopia, | Flickr

This is a kindergarten opened by company known as “Delcie Vita” (A) as a fringe benefit to the factory workers’ children. Facebook.

While the second image portraits OneMom Christian Koh cuddles with one of the children at the Mary Joy Development Association, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, in October 2012.

<https://www.flickr.com/photos/theonecampaign/8169281759>.

19. Photos Of Public Gardens & Parks with Human Presence

copyright: Facebook AbbaMinchi Park

One of the many public parks and resorts in Ethiopia, Facebook.

20. Crosswalks at Points of Higher Population Density or Commercial Movement

copyright: Pixel Free images, Somalia

copyright: refugee-men-fence-concept- \(dreamstime.com\)

As a viewfinder, the photo depicts a high density of people attending a sport event, unfortunately the illegal migration pathways also have been higher population density and/or commercial route for East Africans. This was/is the reality, so far, about the HoA. This could be changed I believe, with greater openness, better socio-economic, and political setting, and with a more global airport paradigm and outlook that encourages in-out possibility both for residents and outsiders. The mobility crisis is address as a comprehensive package alike all other supranational global crisis with cooperation and openness that allow horizontal and vertical transforms. The refugee in fence concept is analogous to the societies in the nation states boxes that are inhibited to move in and out. This, in fact, is tempting and drives youngsters to run from the cages in pursuit of political and economic freedom to the horizon who never saw it. I don't have facts for my words, but significant fraction is following the herd and impacted by the context to take risks, irrationally.